

From: Maureen Taylor
To: callforevidence
Subject: Comment
Date: 11 August 2018 15:43:41

I am 79, have a pc and an iPad, but I use cash for preference for day to day shopping, as I can keep tabs on my spending. I have an accounts program on my pc, for checking statements, but would hate those statements to be cluttered up with small miscellaneous payments. It's hard enough remembering to enter any online transactions, or visits to a cash machine. I was brought up to keep close watch on my finances, and to save as much as possible, so multiple small payments by card go against the grain. Please don't let them make it hard for us to use lovely cash. We'd probably feel too anxious to spend anything!